

Customer Assistance

Tel-A-Sale has been providing On Hold Communication Services for more than 25 years. And you'd think that during that time, we'd have figured a few things out, and we have.

One thing we figured out early on is that we are a service company, and the better value we can provide to our customers, the better off we'll be.

So we created a cadre of customer assistance programs that separate us from our competition and provide better value to our customer.

Some competitors may provide assistance programs. None of our competitors provide what we provide!

One such program is our COOP Assistance program. This proprietary program helps customers position our service and price it for COOP support.

And point of fact, a number of our customers have benefited from our help!

One of our missions is to make a positive contribution to the bottom line of our customers. We look at our service as an investment, and if we're not getting the customer a return...what's the point??

Be sure to ask about our customer assistance programs and how you can benefit from working with Tel-A-Sale. You'll be glad you did!!
